- !WikiWiki means “fast” in Hawaiian.
- A WikiName is a word composed of two or more words with each separate word beginning with an upper case character.
- Always use the singular for a WikiName, otherwise multiple pages for one topic might be created.
- Be bold when updating pages.—Back ups from older versions of each page are created automatically.
- By setting a bookmark on RecentChanges you can easily see what has been changed since your last visit.
- CategoryCategory shows an overview of all available categories.
- Clicking on a page's title will give you a list of all pages that are currently linking to it.
- Do not create a new, very short page for a sub-topic when it fits on an already-existing page.
- For your account name you should use a WikiName (!FirstnameLastname).
- In your user preferences you can use your own CSS to change the default layout.
- Just type in URLs ([[http://www.example.net]])—the wiki will convert them automatically to a link.
- In your user preferences you can edit the list of your quick links.
- In your user preferences you can use regular expressions for subscribing pages; with “.*” you subscribe to all pages.
- OrphanedPages shows pages that no other page links to by a WikiName.

- Set the "Language" in your browser's preferences or in your main user preferences to "English" to read the wiki menus and messages in English.
- Setting "Language" in your user preferences to "English" will allow you to receive emails from the wiki in English.
- The use of `[[CategoryCategory|categories]]` helps organize your information.
- Use WikiName`s instead of URLs when linking to a page within the wiki.
- Use "`<<GetText(Exclude underlay)>>`" on FindPage to exclude the wiki's help pages from the fulltext search.
- WantedPages shows WikiName`s where currently no page exists.
- When writing your email address, use `<<MailTo(Firstname DOT Lastname AT example DOT net)>>` to avoid spam.
- Wikis are cool—especially if you have read the help pages (see HelpContents). ;-)
- With `{{attachment:myfile.png}}` you can create a link to an attachment (and use the link to upload the attachment).
- With `{{attachment:myfile.png|alias description|&do=get}}` you can create a download link to an attachment.
- With "`@SIG@`" you can sign a text.
- With "`<<GetText(Add Link)>>`" you can add the current page to your list of quick links.
- With "`<<GetText(Check Spelling)>>`" you can initiate a spell check.—Only add unknown words if you are absolutely sure that they are spelled correctly.
- With "`<<GetText(Comments)>>`" you can toggle on/off the view of comments on the current page.
- With "`<<GetText(Info)>>`" you can look at the revision history of the current page.
- With "`<<GetText(Subscribe)>>`" you can be informed about changes on the current page via email.
- You can avoid that a WikiName becomes a link if you place a `!` in front of the word.
- You can change the default size of the editor window in your user preferences.
- You can create or edit the list of your quick links in your user preferences.
- You can use other pages than the FrontPage as your personal start page, e.g. RecentChanges or your own homepage.
- You may use non-ASCII characters (e.g. äæéłöüñ) on wiki pages and for the page names, too.
- You may want to call `<<Action(bookmark, Set bookmark)>>` on RecentChanges and come back later to read new changes. (For using that feature you have to be logged in!)
